

Shuhita Bhattacharjee, as lead coordinator from Indian Institute of Technology Hyderabad, joins Eadaoin Agnew (Kingston University, UK) in receiving the prestigious UKRI Arts and Humanities Research Council (AHRC) research grant for the establishment and strengthening of global nineteenth-century research networks. With the Department of Liberal Arts, IIT Hyderabad, as the India project partner, Shuhita Bhattacharjee will be spearheading the setting up of a virtual Nineteenth-Century Research Network, South Asia Chapter, from IIT Hyderabad as a research network that mobilizes and connects academics and students working in the area of nineteenth-century studies for discussions, collaborations, projects, and grants.

Please fill out this Google Form if you are a student or academic who wishes to volunteer for the network and help with the planning, preparing, and organizing:

Google Form Link